

Privacy Policy Statement

Thank you for visiting the Raymond W. Bliss Army Health Center Website and reviewing our privacy policy. Our privacy policy is clear: We will collect no personal information about you when you visit our website unless you choose to provide that information to us.

Here is how we handle information about your visit to our website:

Information Collected and Stored Automatically

If you do nothing during your visit but browse through the website, read pages, or download information, we do not automatically gather and store information about your visit. We do not track or record information about individuals and their visits.

If You Send Us Personal Information

If you choose to provide us with personal information – such as an email address, name, geographical location, or by filling out a form with your personal information and submitting it to us through our website - we use that information ONLY to respond to your message and to help us get you the information you have requested. We do not collect personal information for any purpose other than to respond to you.

We will only share the information you give us with another government agency if your inquiry relates to that agency, or as otherwise required by law. Moreover, we do not create individual profiles with the information you provide or to give it to any private organizations. The Raymond W. Bliss Army Health Center does not collect information for commercial marketing.

Links to Other Sites

Our Website has links to many other federal agencies. We also provide links to private organizations, with their permission. Before leaving the our website, be aware that you will be subject to the privacy policy of the new site you enter.
